

Hoover Happenings!

Week of 11/3/25

Mrs. Wohlfeill

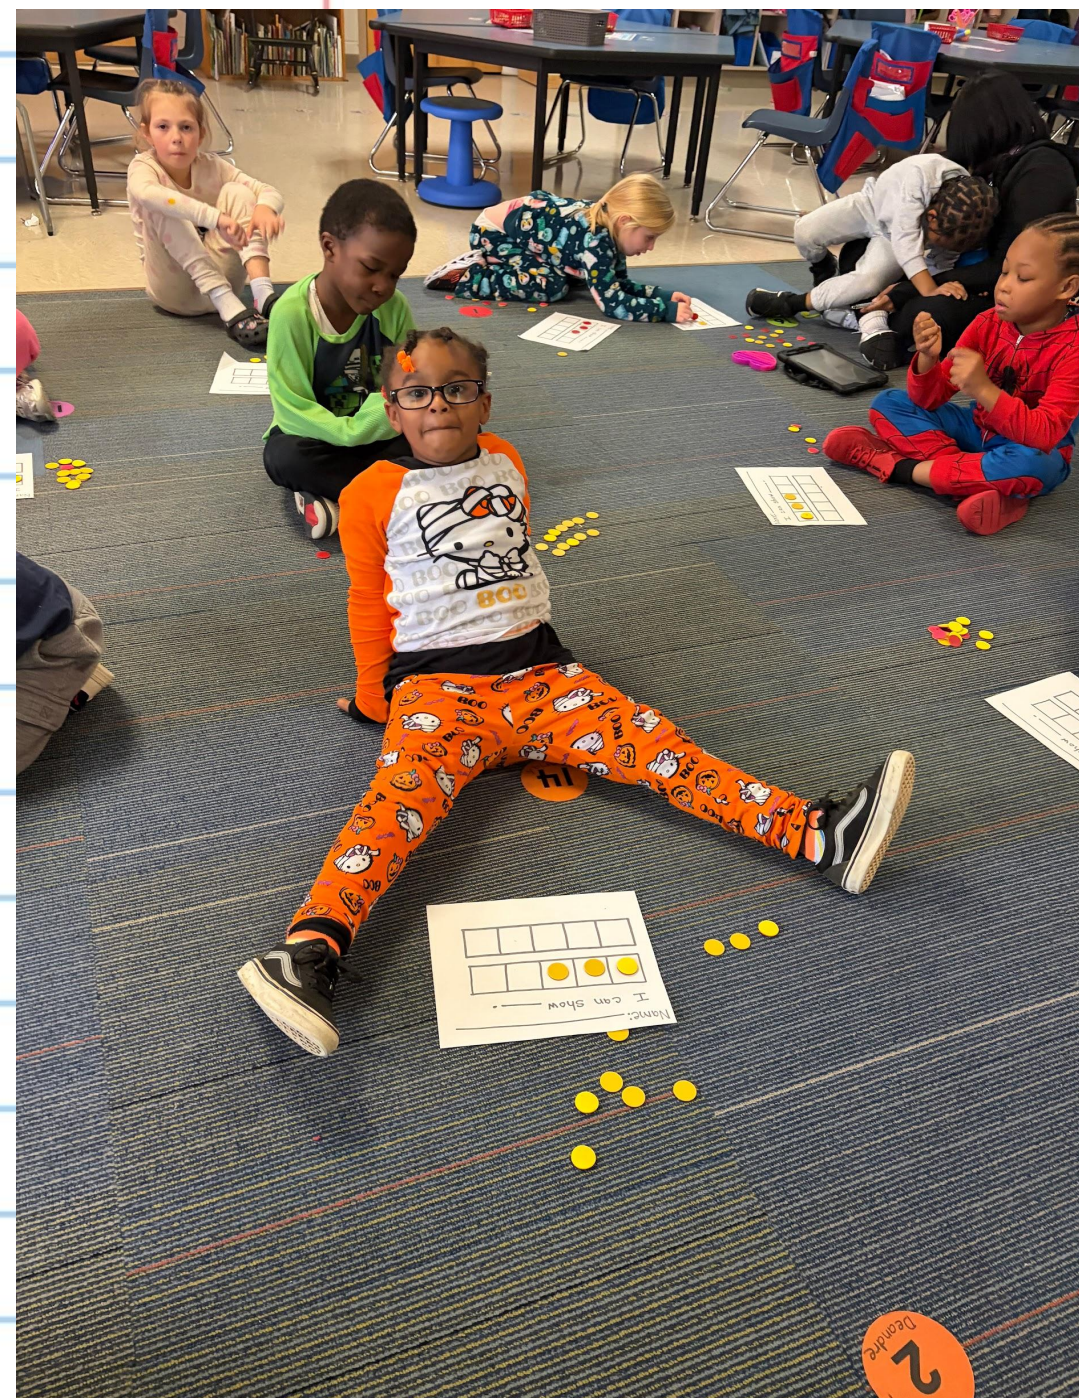

We are working on reading on level texts and writing sentences independently!! The kindergarten kids are doing a fabulous job!!

Mrs. Gorski

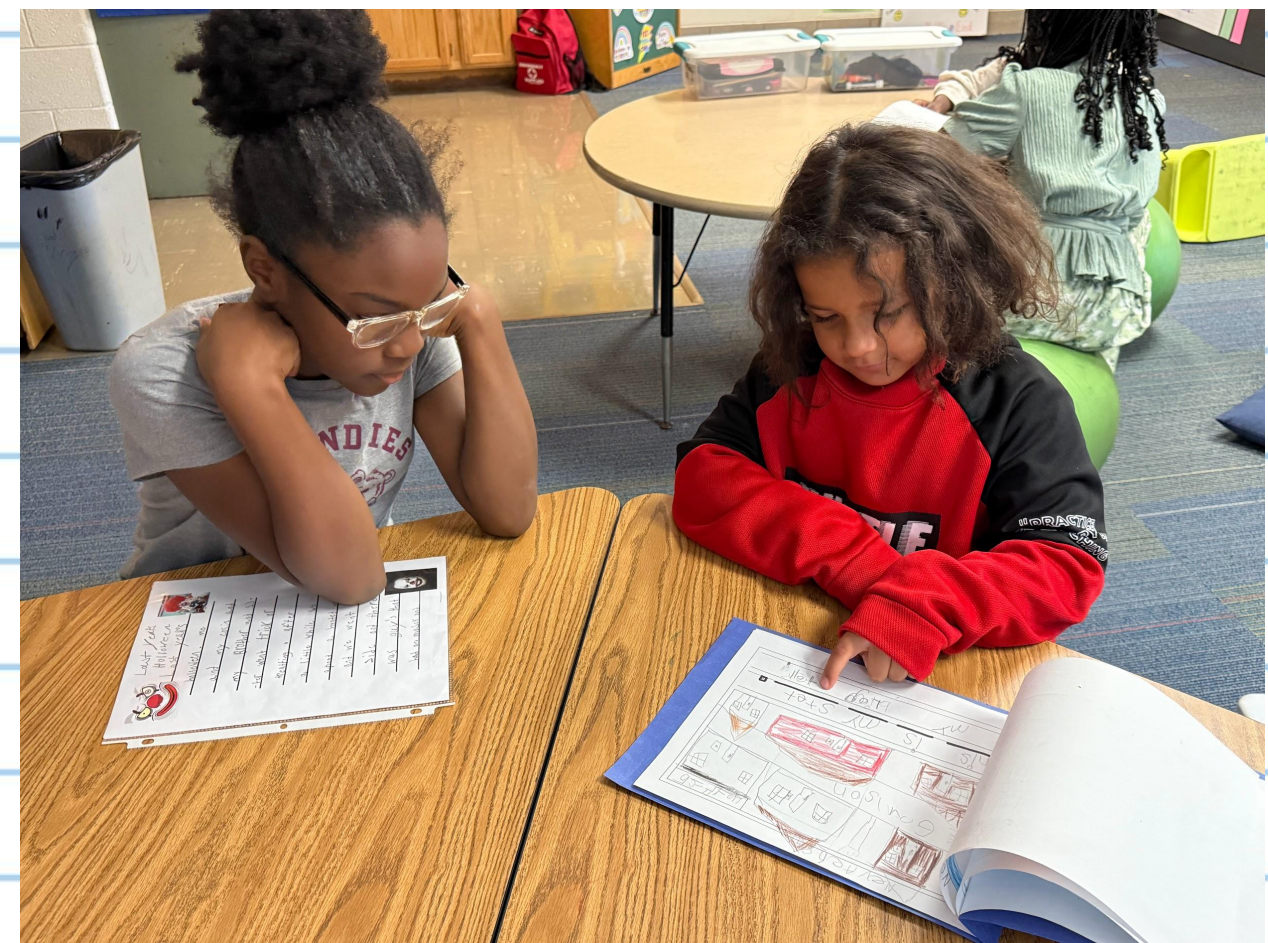

In Kindergarten we have been working on our number sense fluency. We have been practicing how to look at number values and automatically know their worth. For example, when you roll a dice, you can quickly look at the number of dots and without counting them know the value. We are developing this skill using dice and number frames currently.

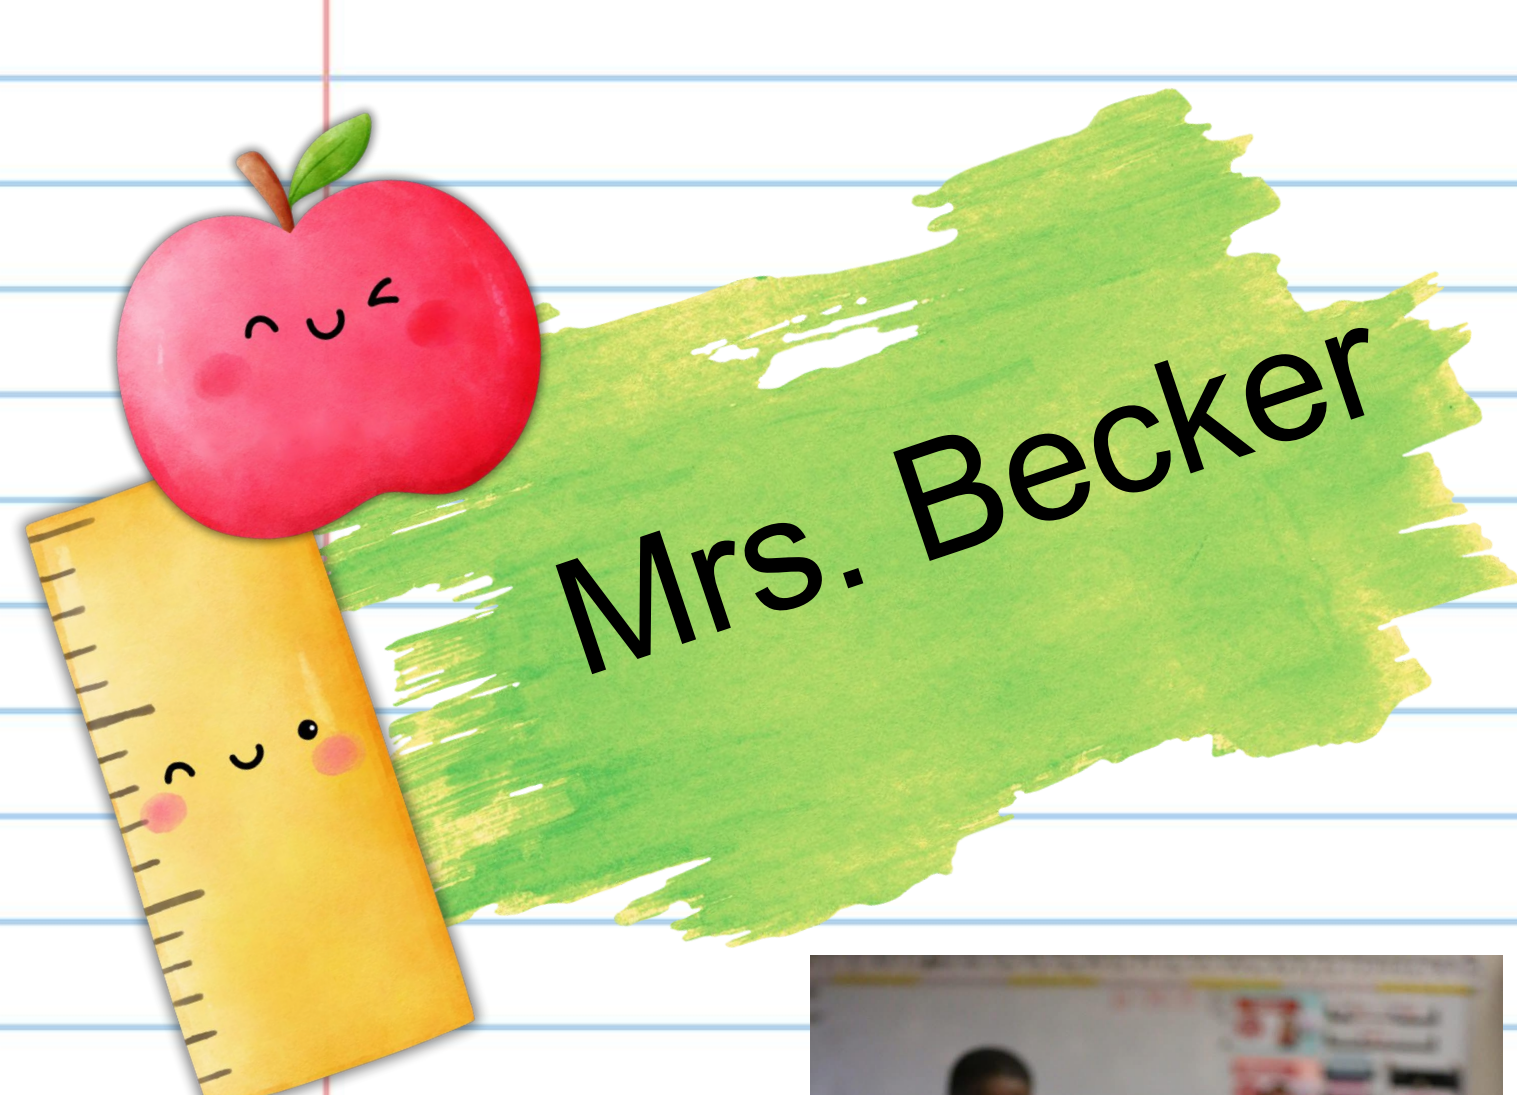

Mrs. Hughes

Our first graders worked hard for many weeks on their Me on the Map Books. As a celebration of their work, they were able to share their books with their 4th grade buddies!

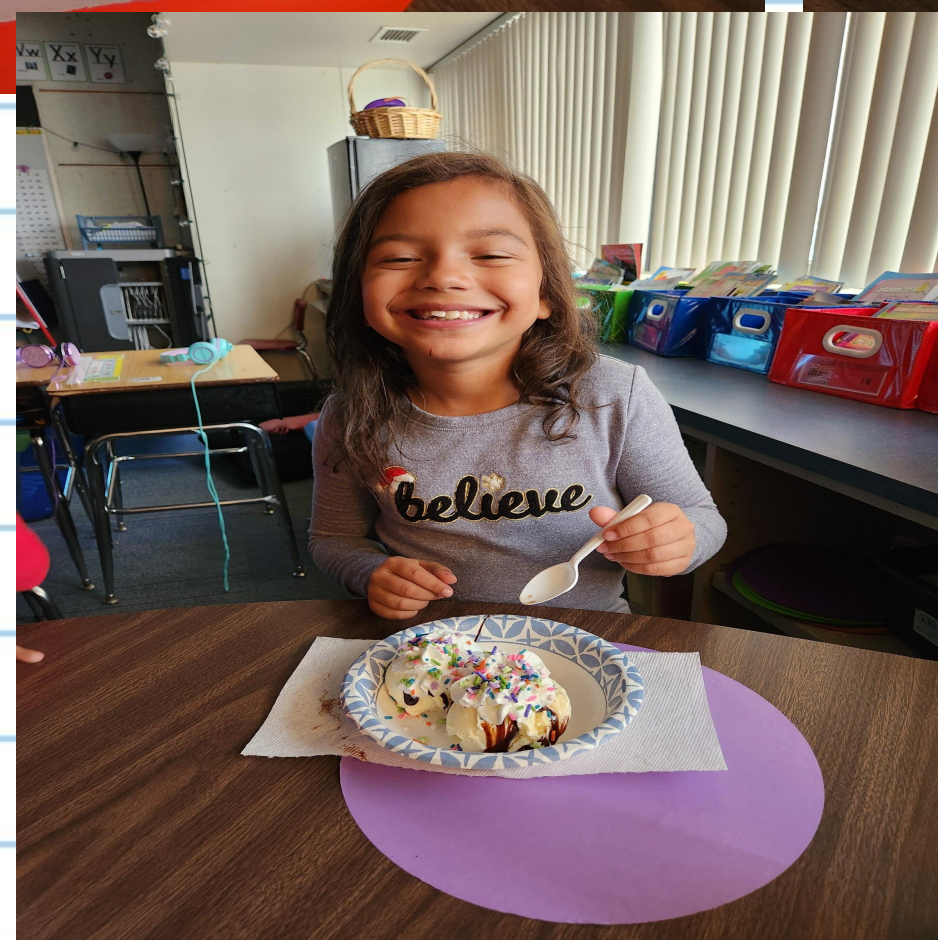

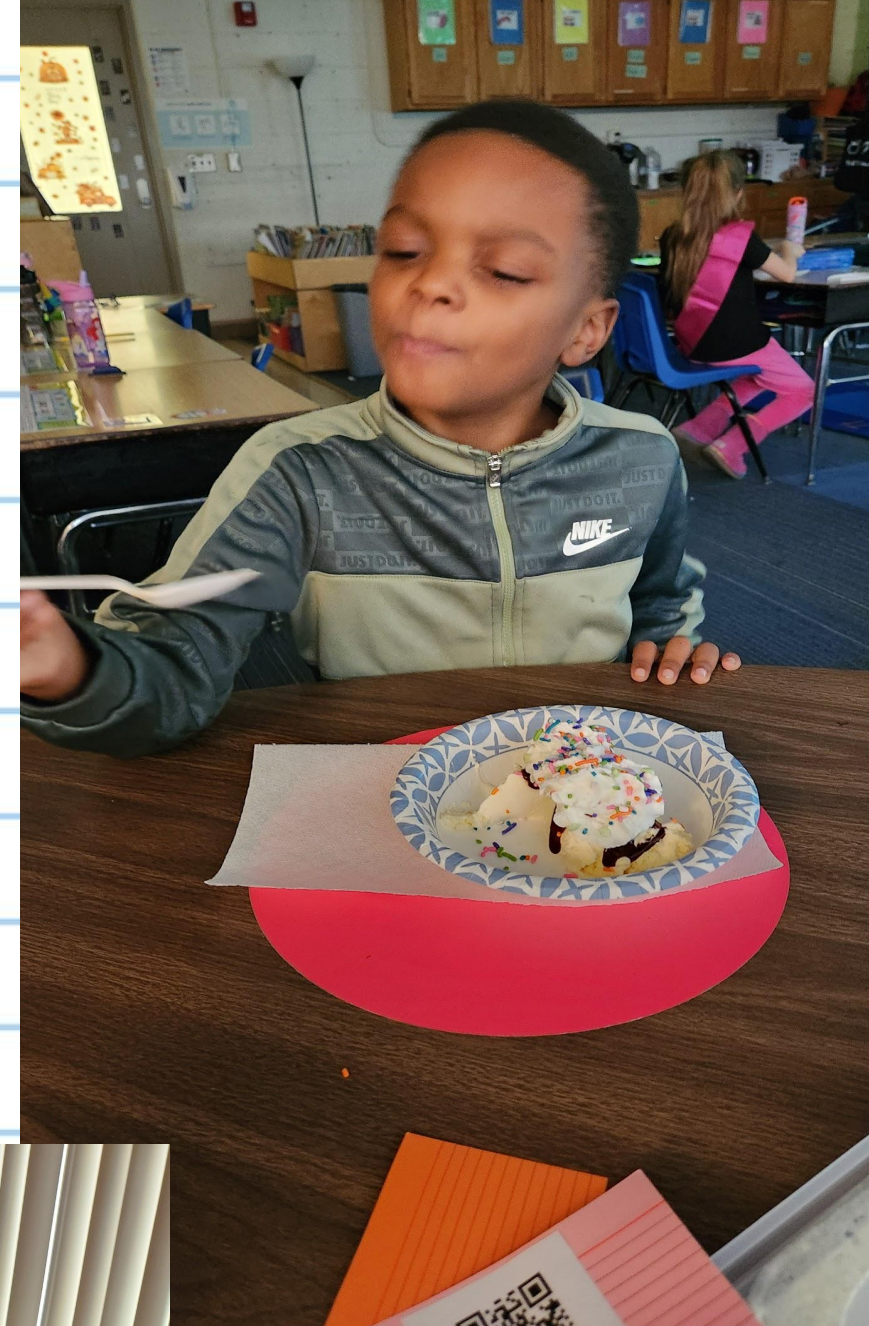

We are officially first-grade authors! Students worked hard for several weeks writing their Me on the Map books. They were so super excited to share them with their book buddies and families!

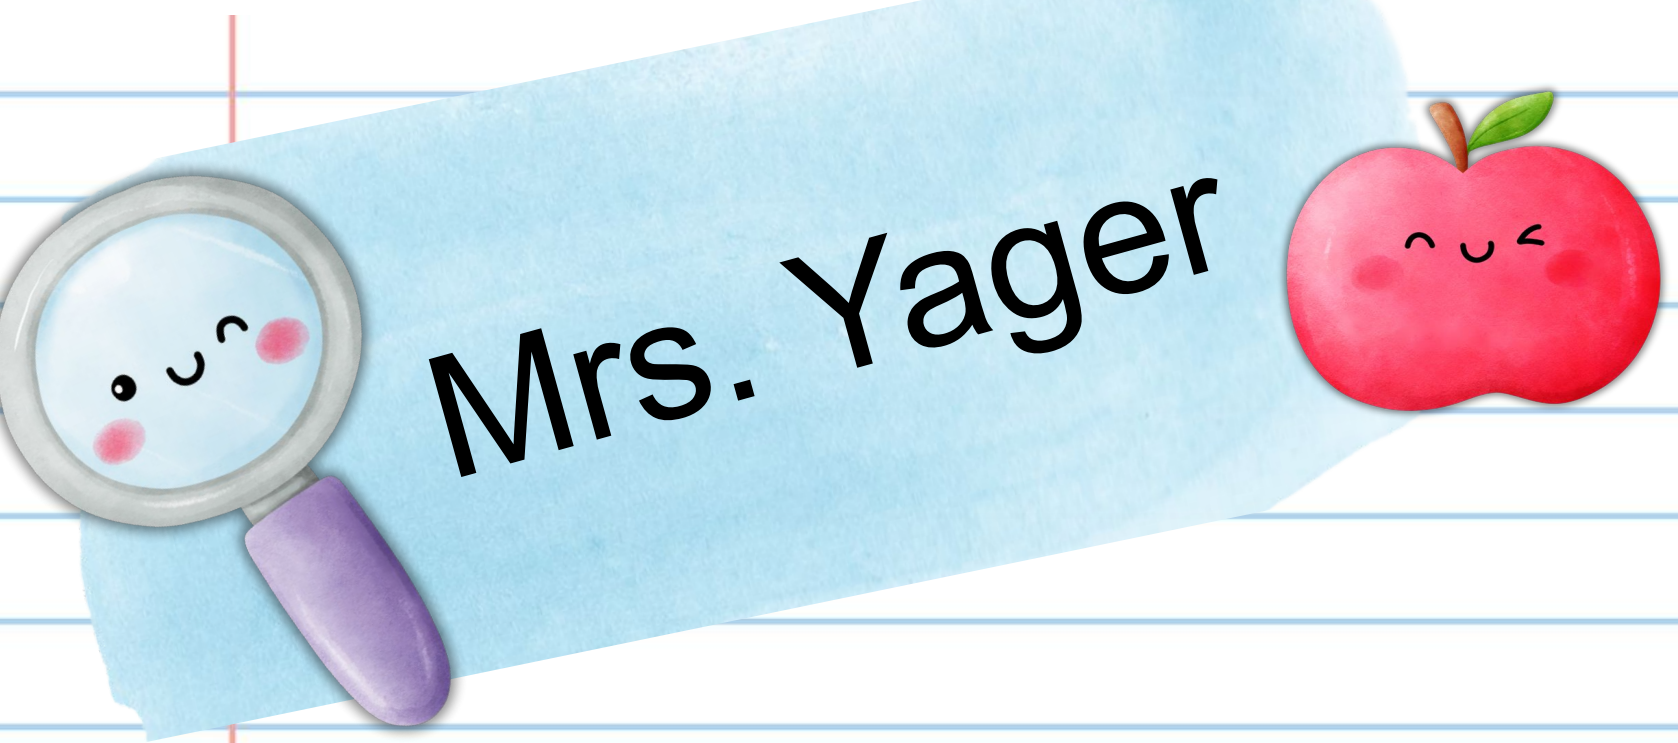

Mrs. Beller

We earned enough P.A.W.
Tickets to have an
Ice Cream Sundae Party !!

This week
we began our research for our Bug Books!

Mrs. Suder

We started our new unit on Weather & Climate and have been diving into some informational texts!

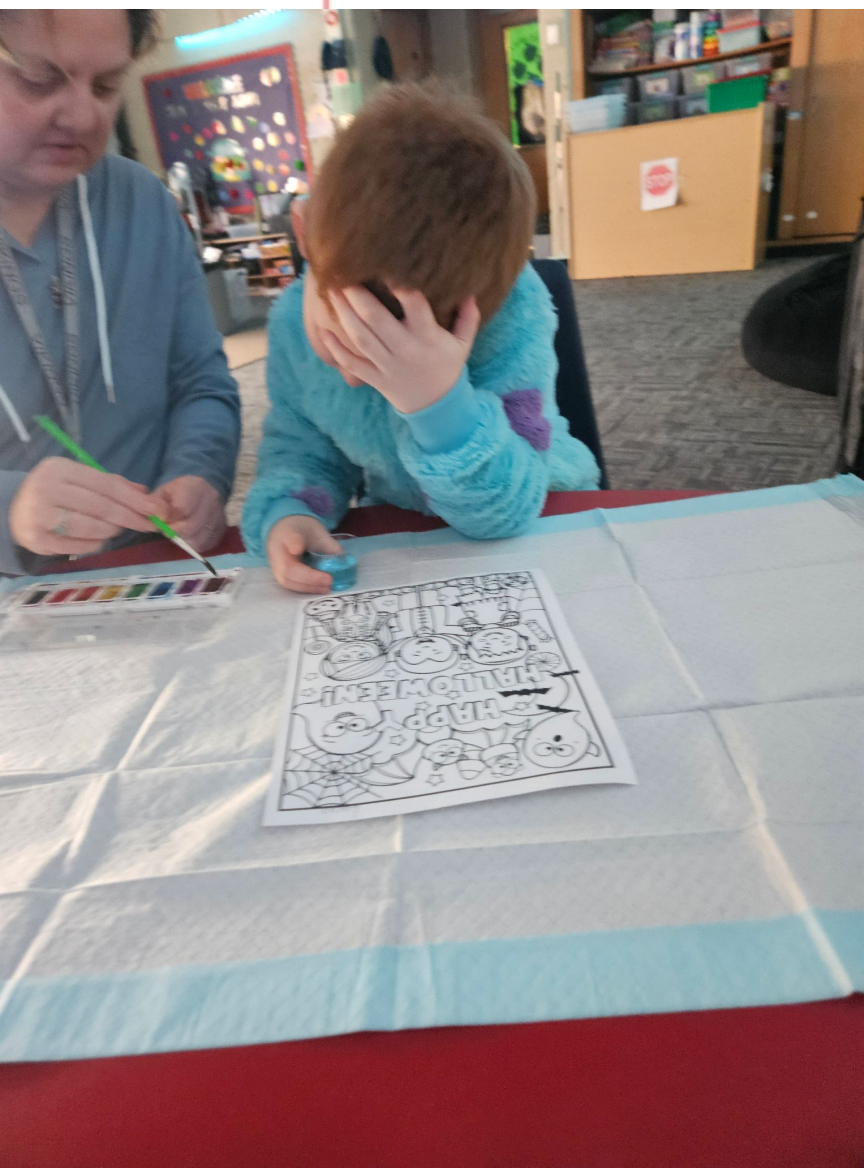

We also earned enough PAW Points to have an ice cream sundae party.

Ms. Williams

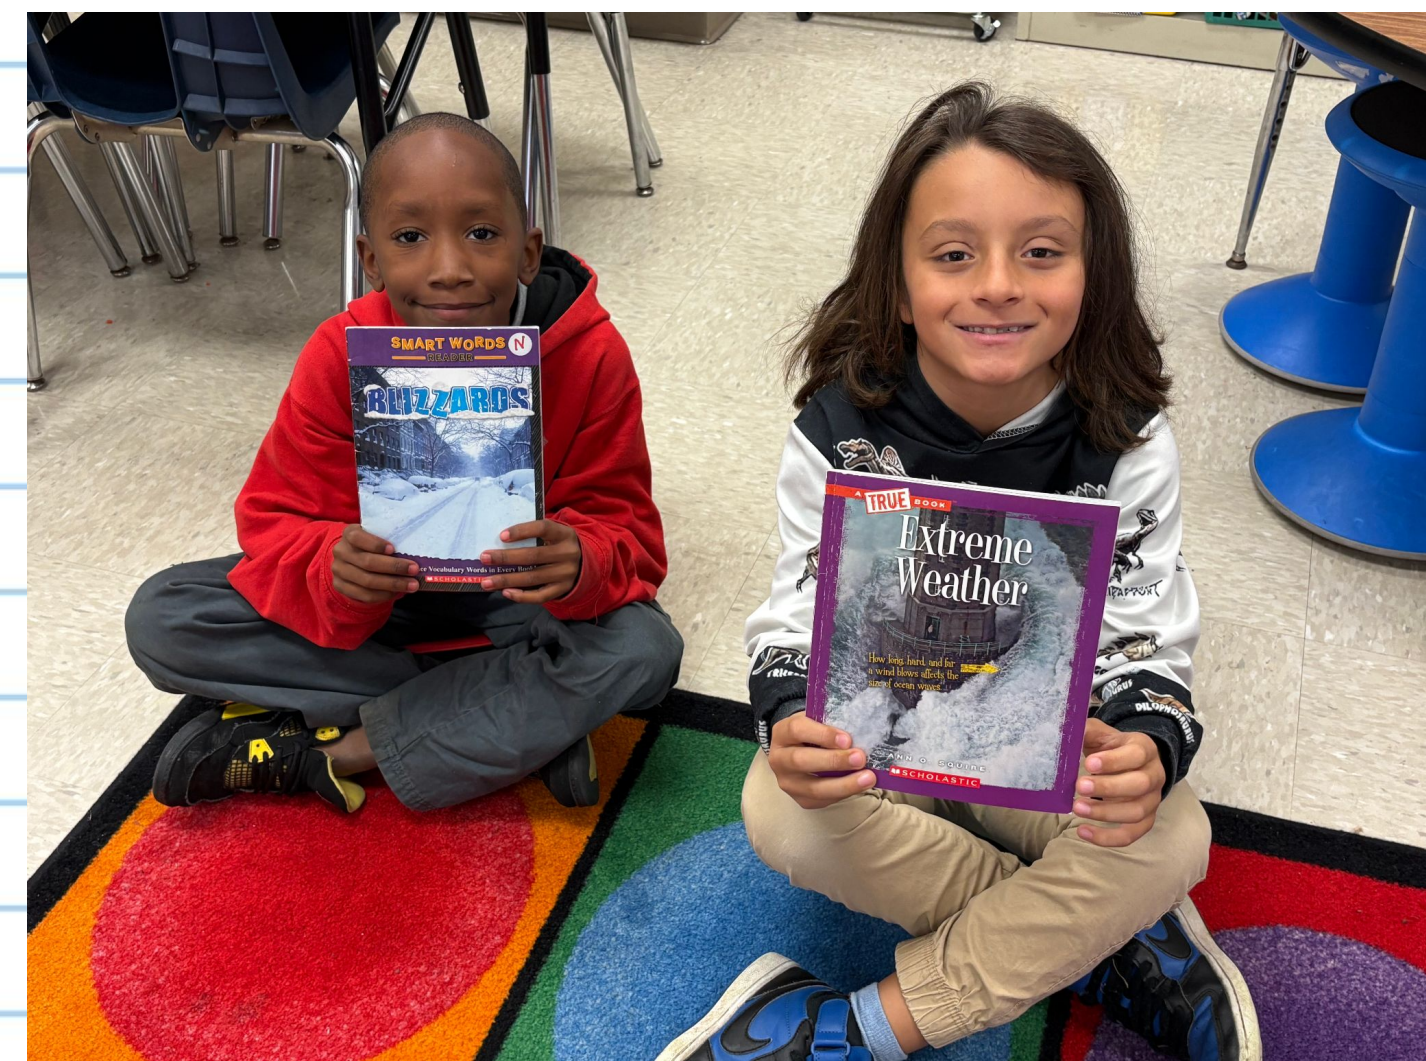

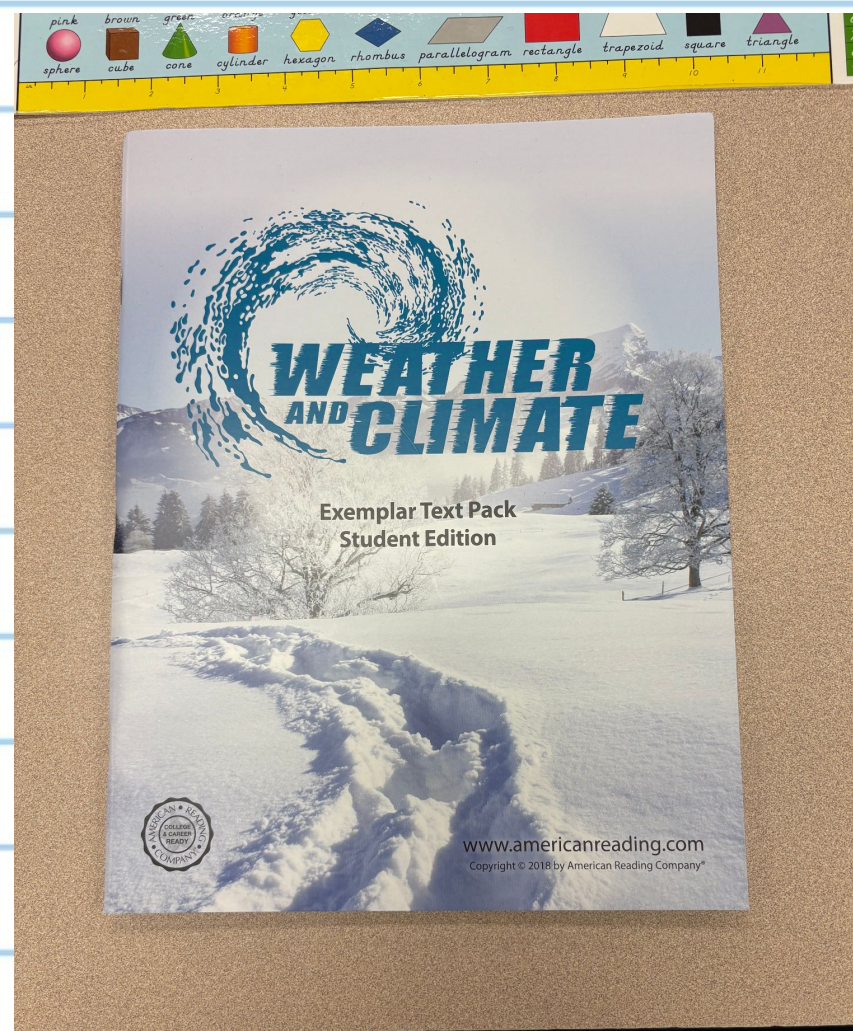

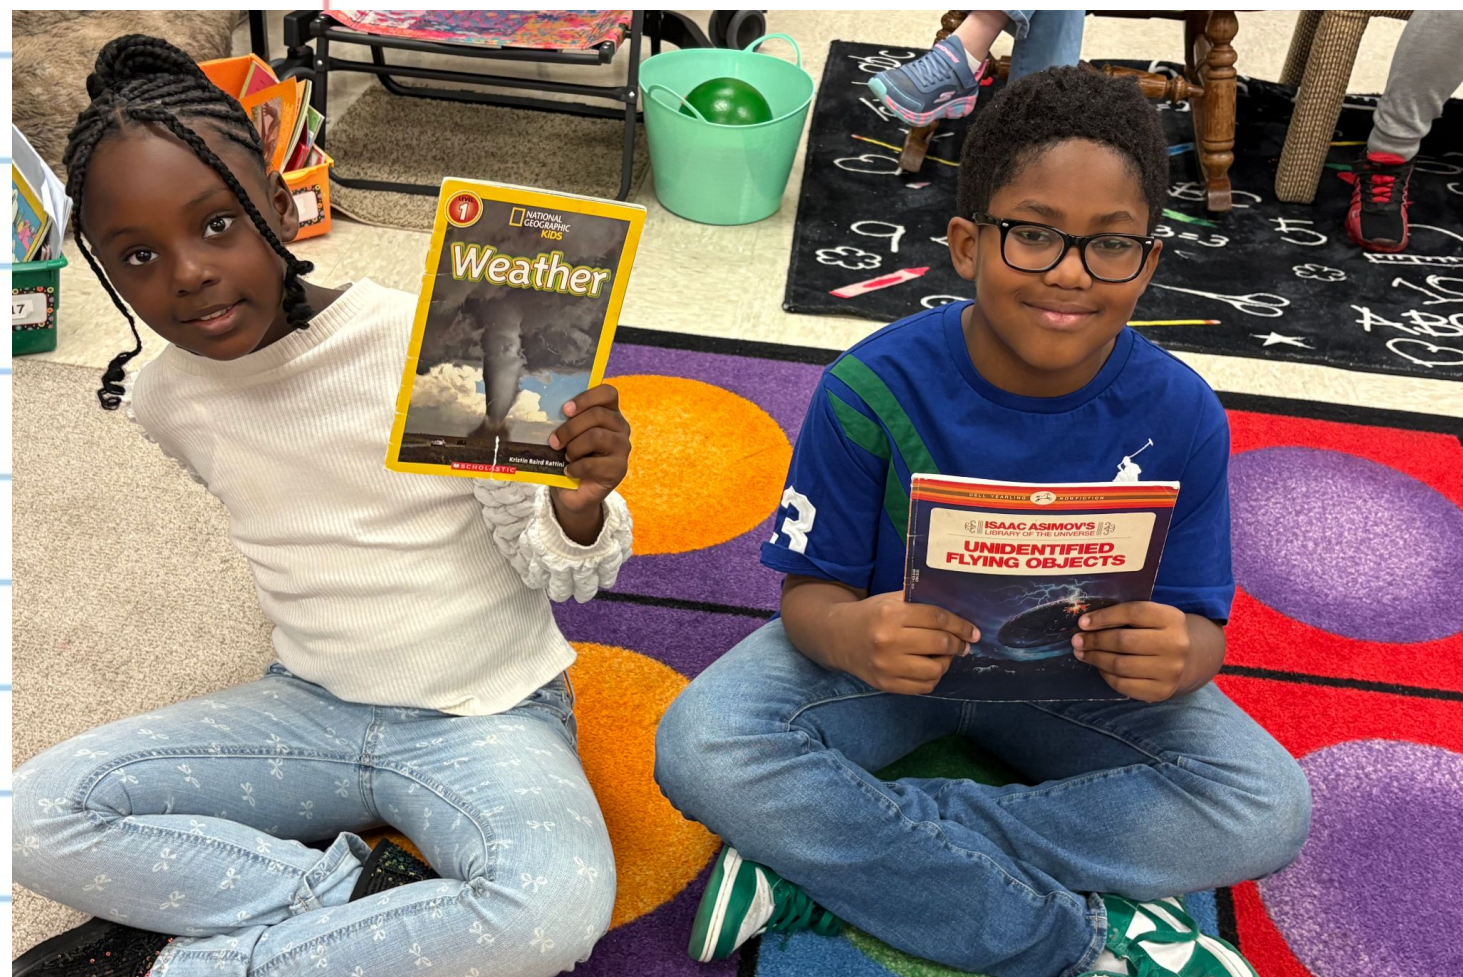

Last week we had a lot of fun painting a Halloween picture and we walked in the parade around the school. We enjoyed our Halloween in class.

Ms. Culver

We are very excited about our new reading and writing unit,
WEATHER and CLIMATE!

Ms. Johnson

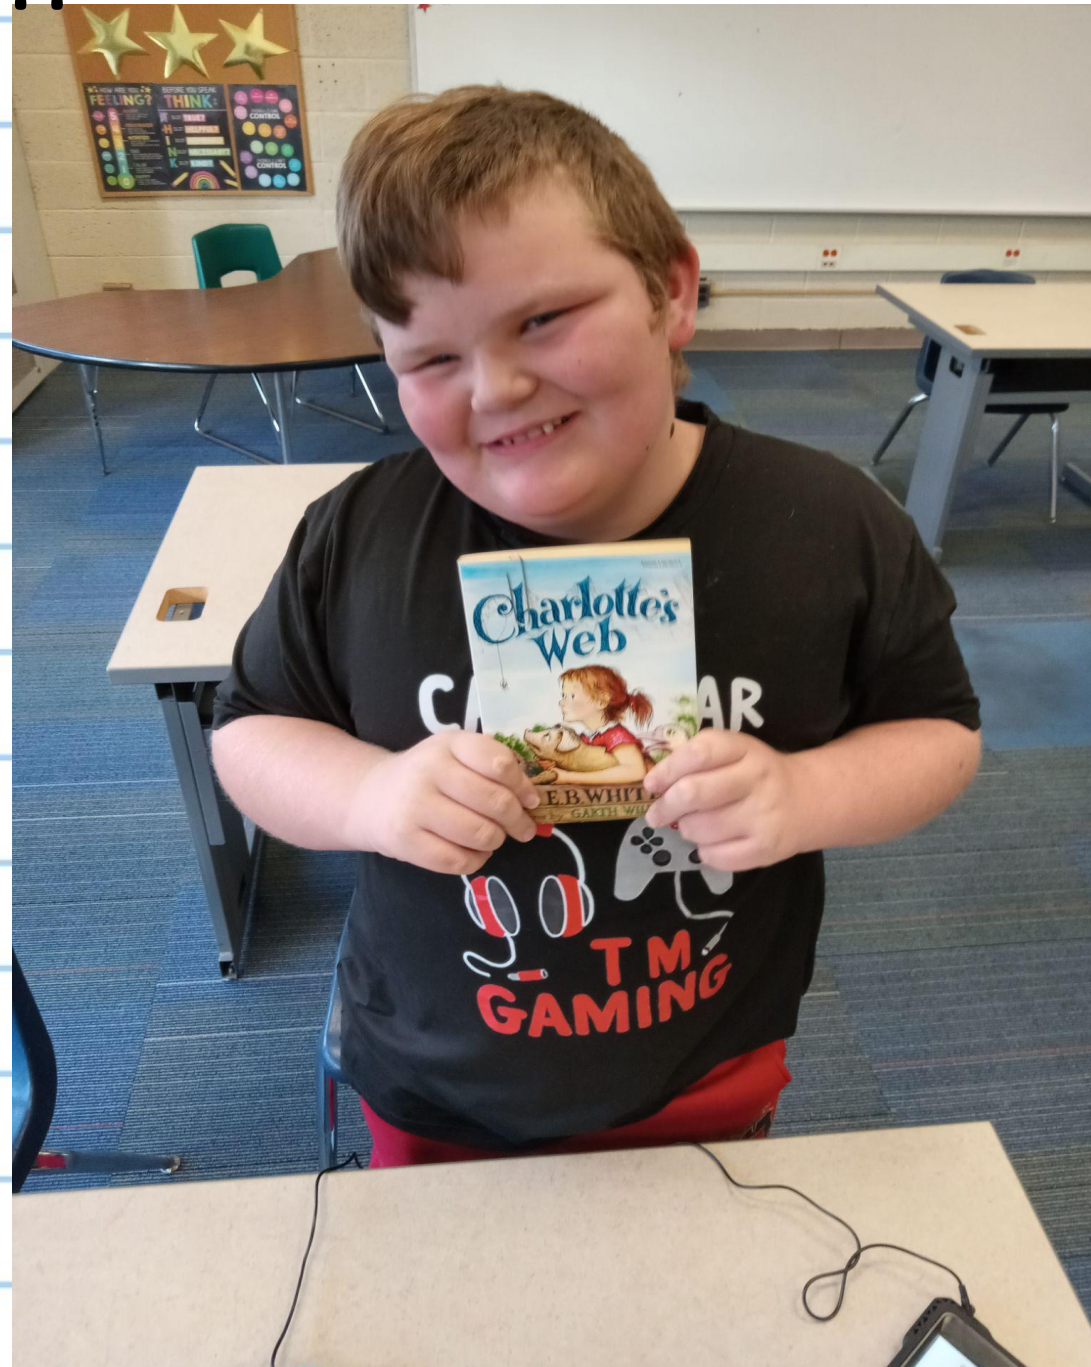

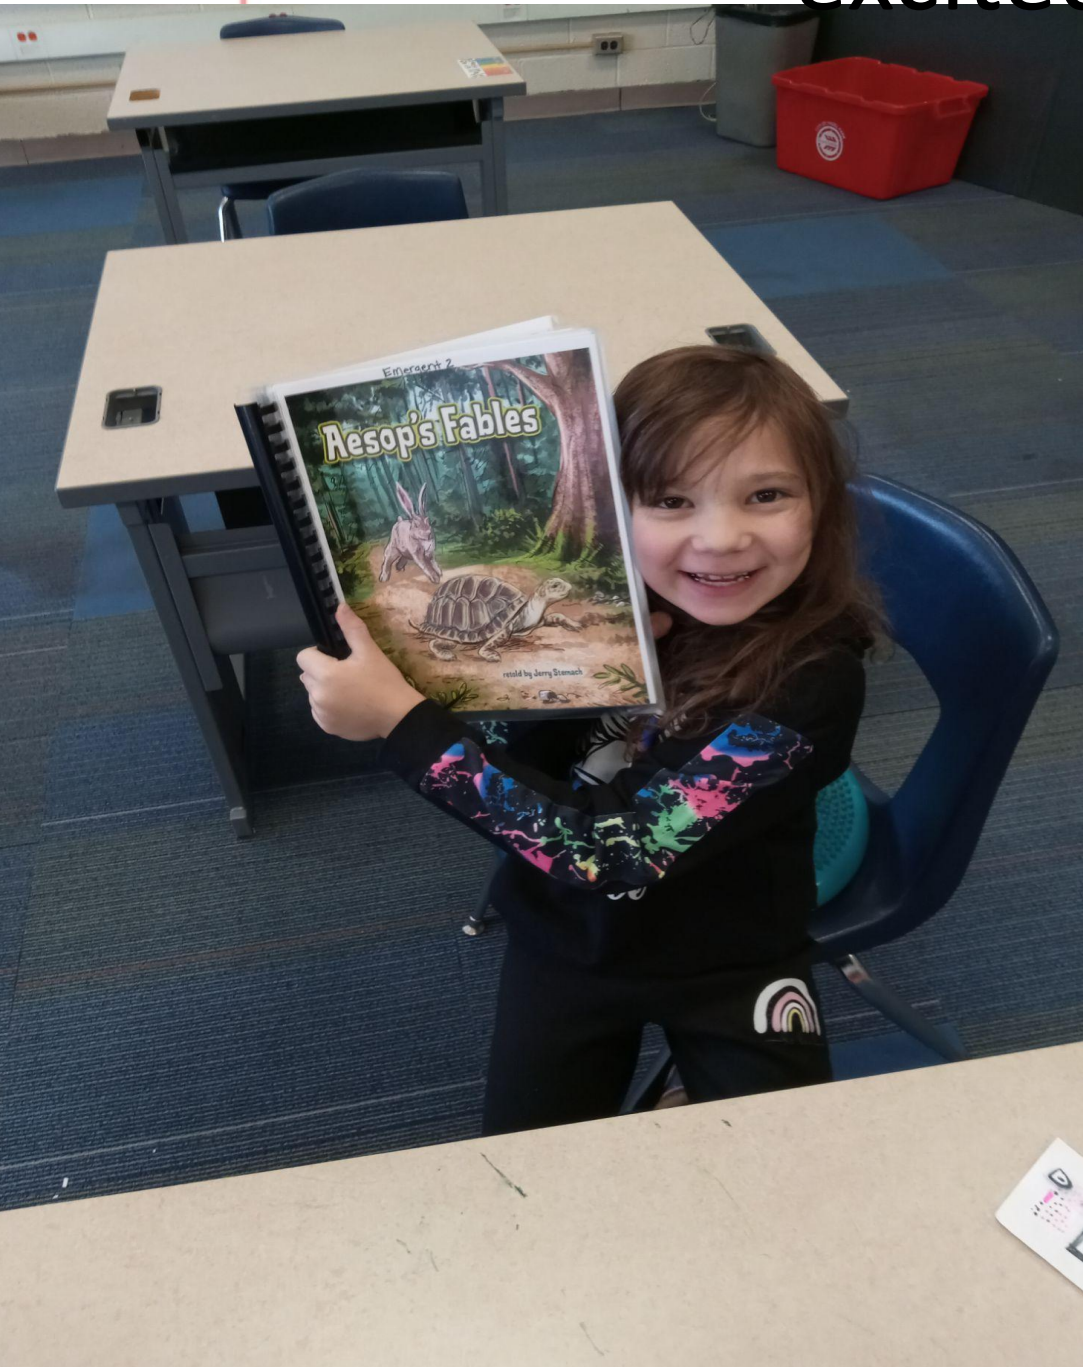

Science is Fun!

Mr. Ochsenhaut

We started our new books this week. We are super excited!!

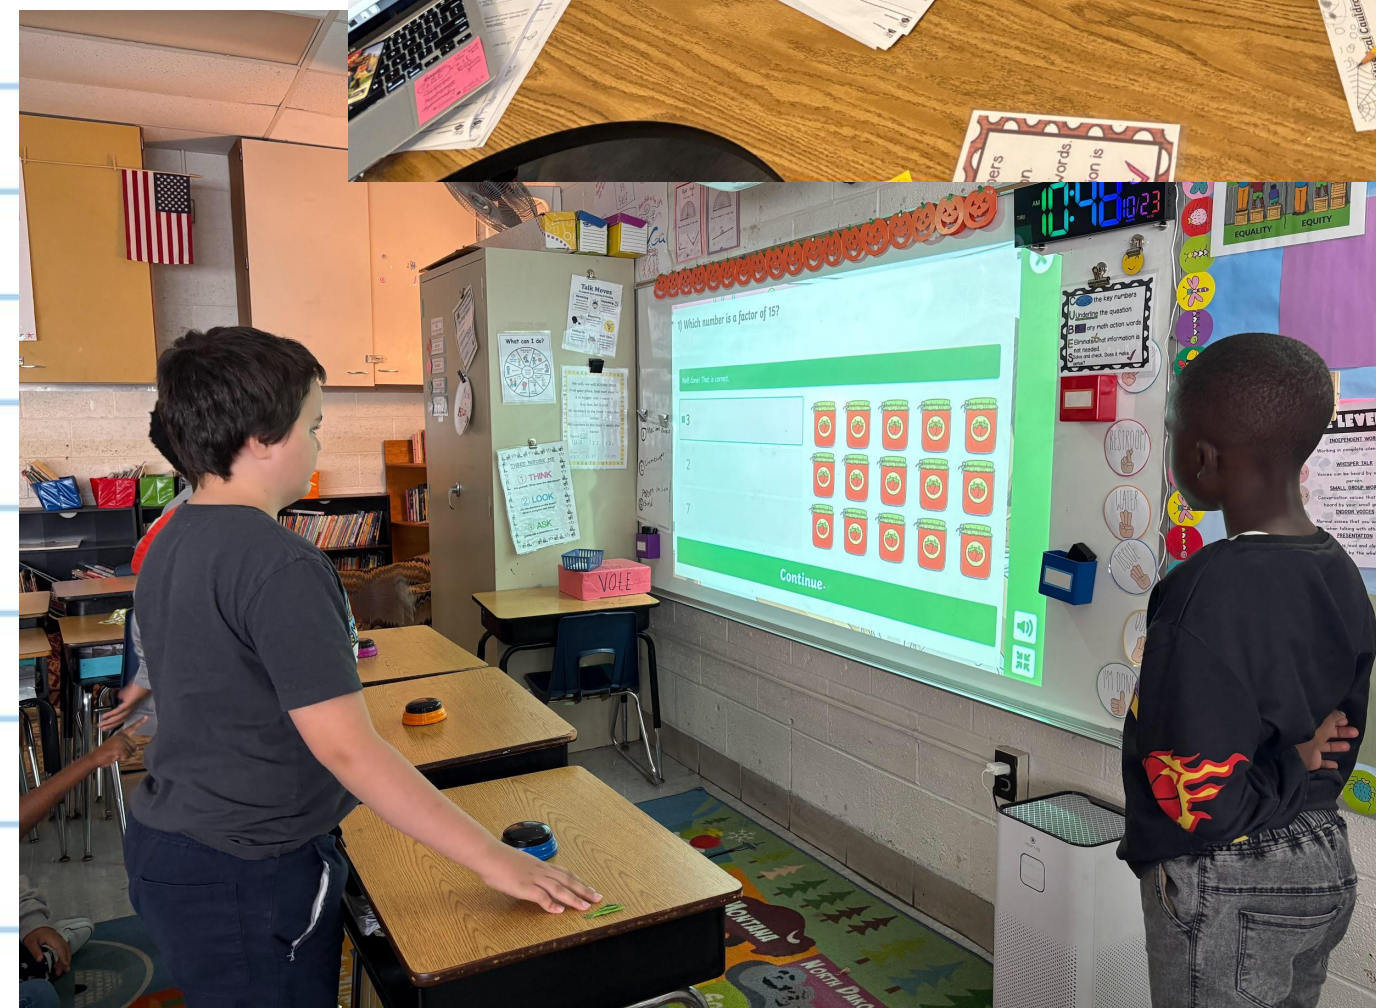

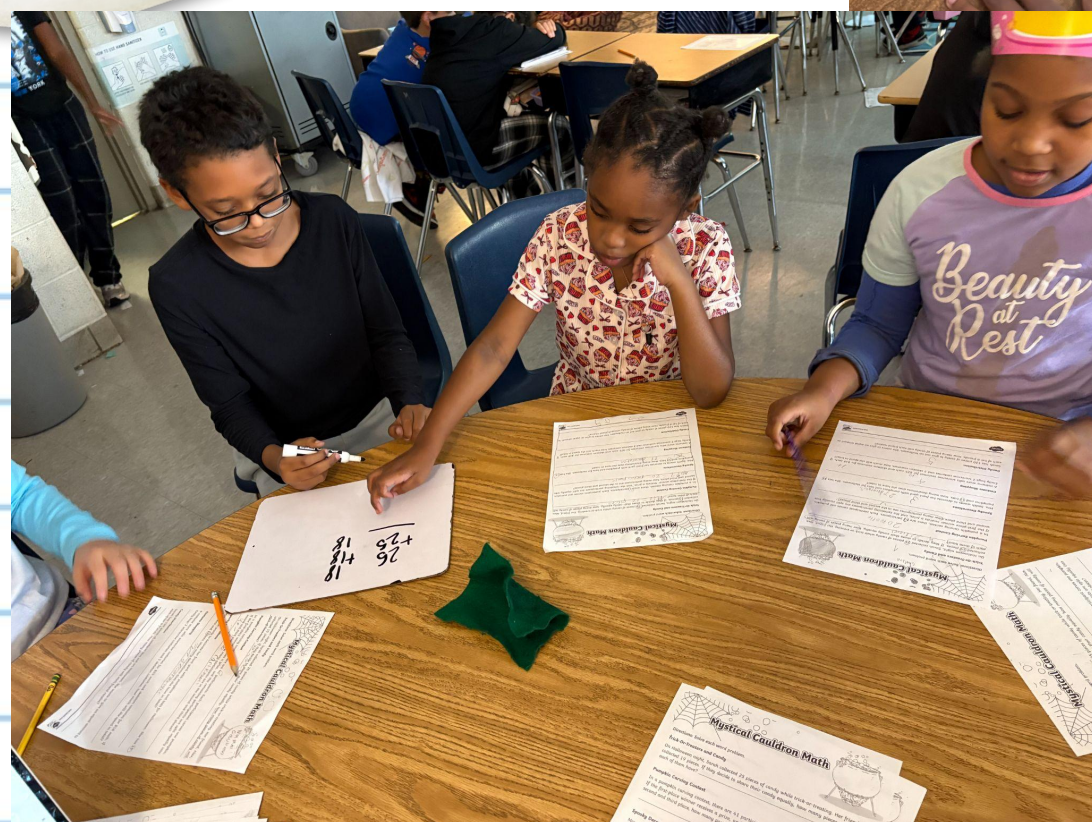

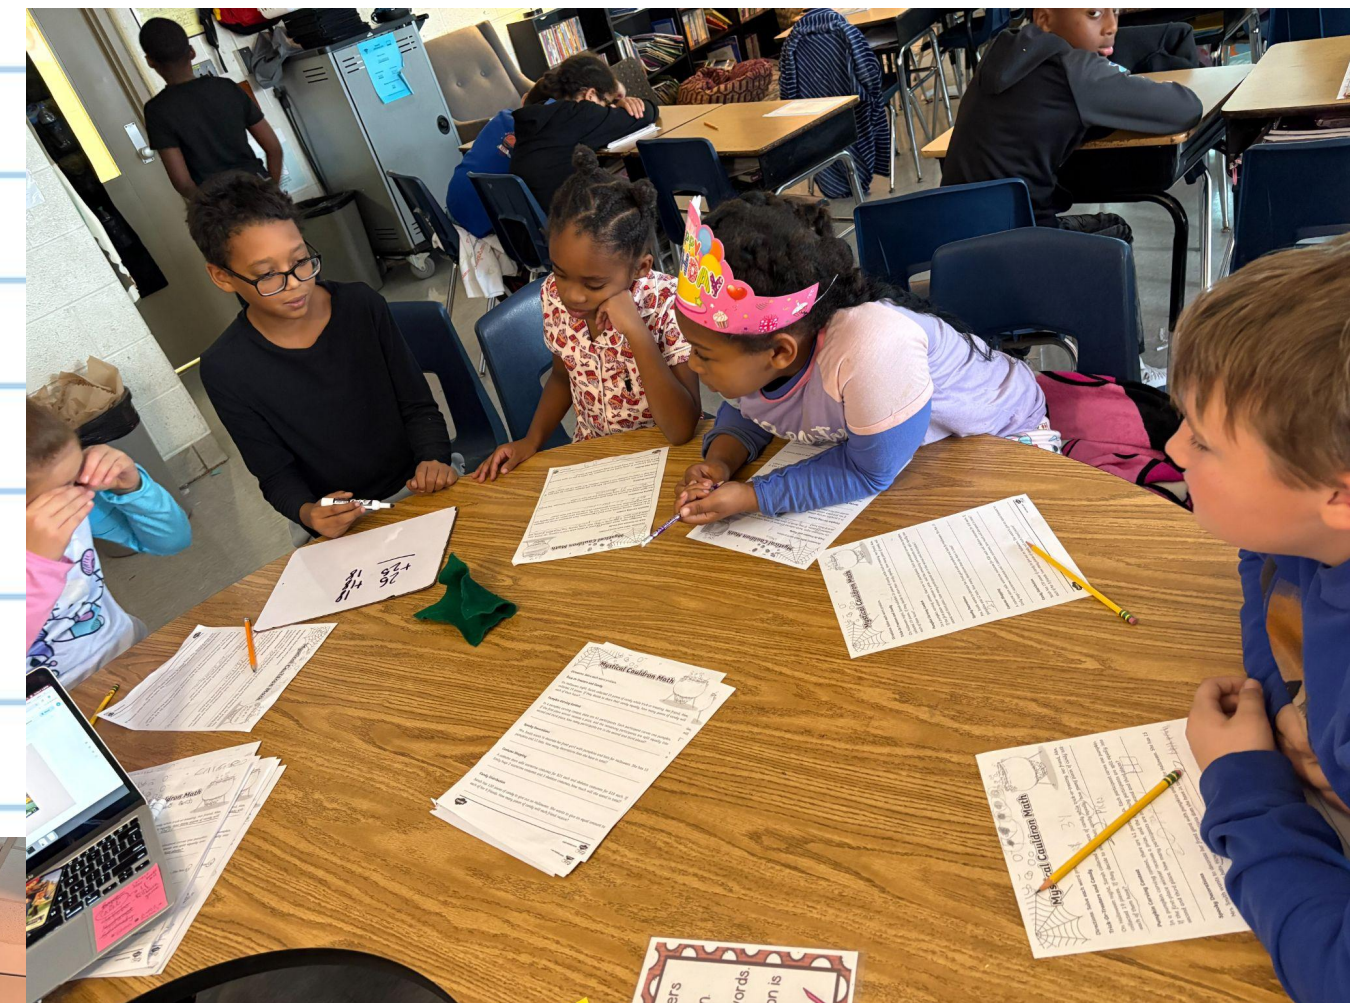

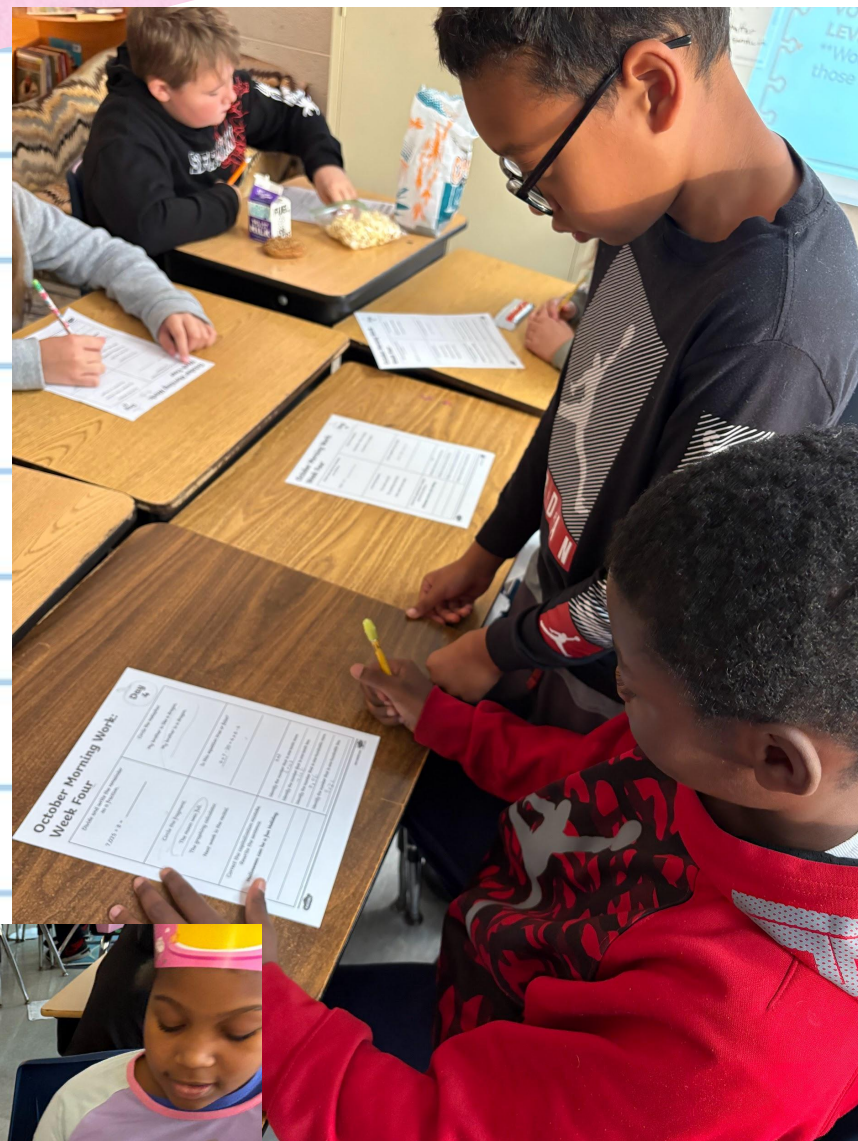

Mrs. Houston

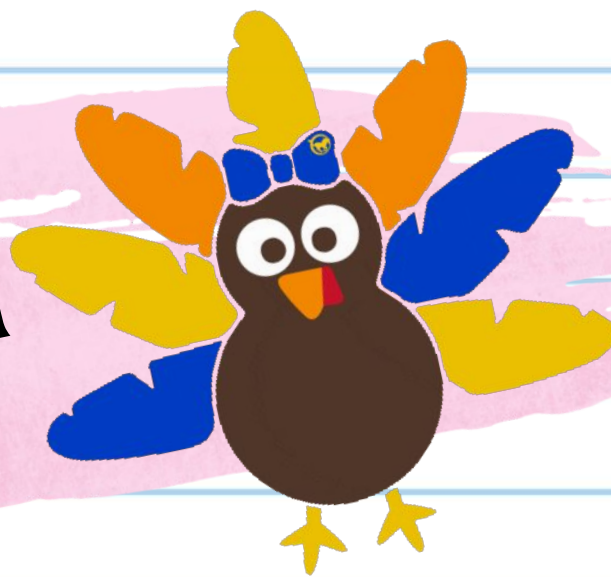

We love peer tutoring!

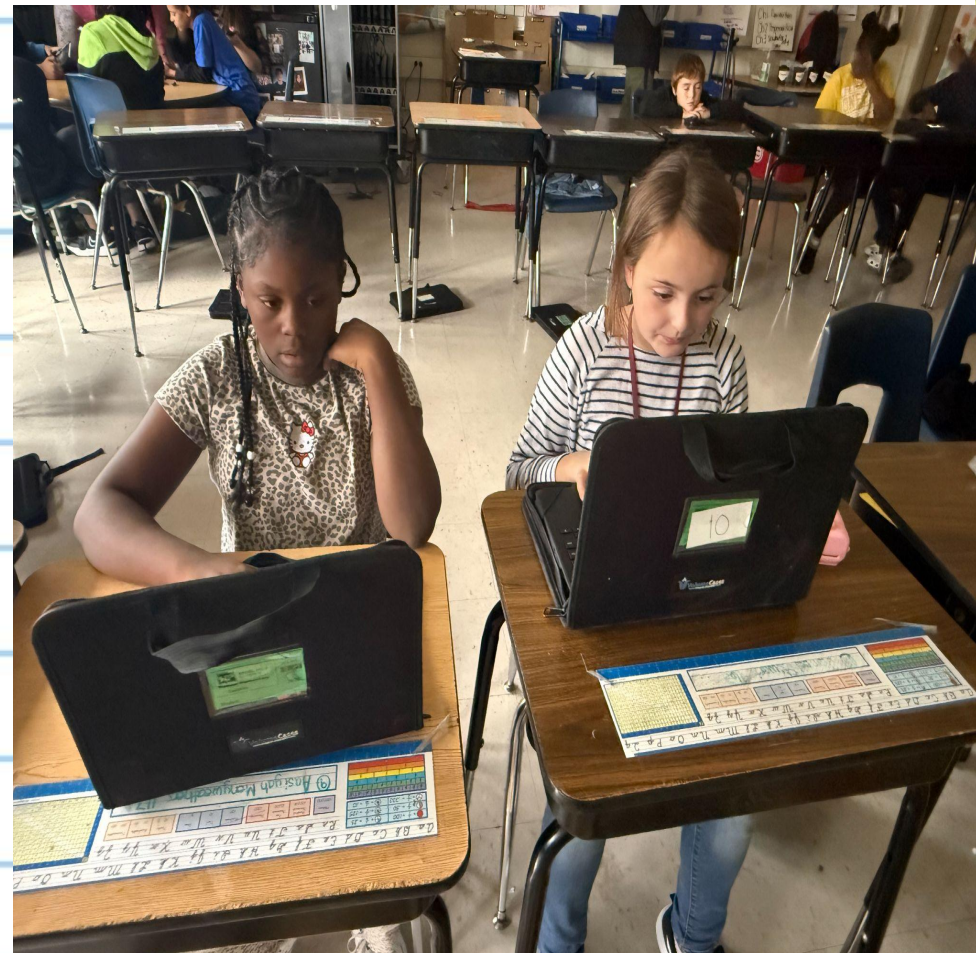

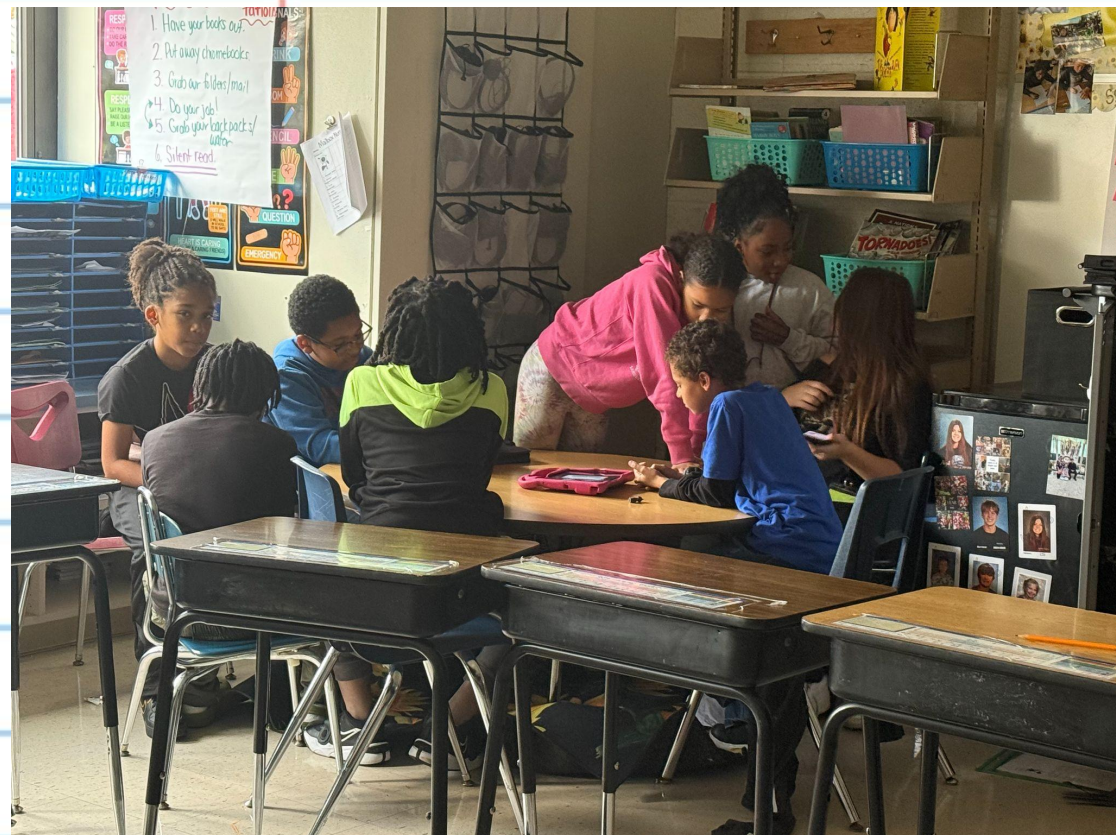

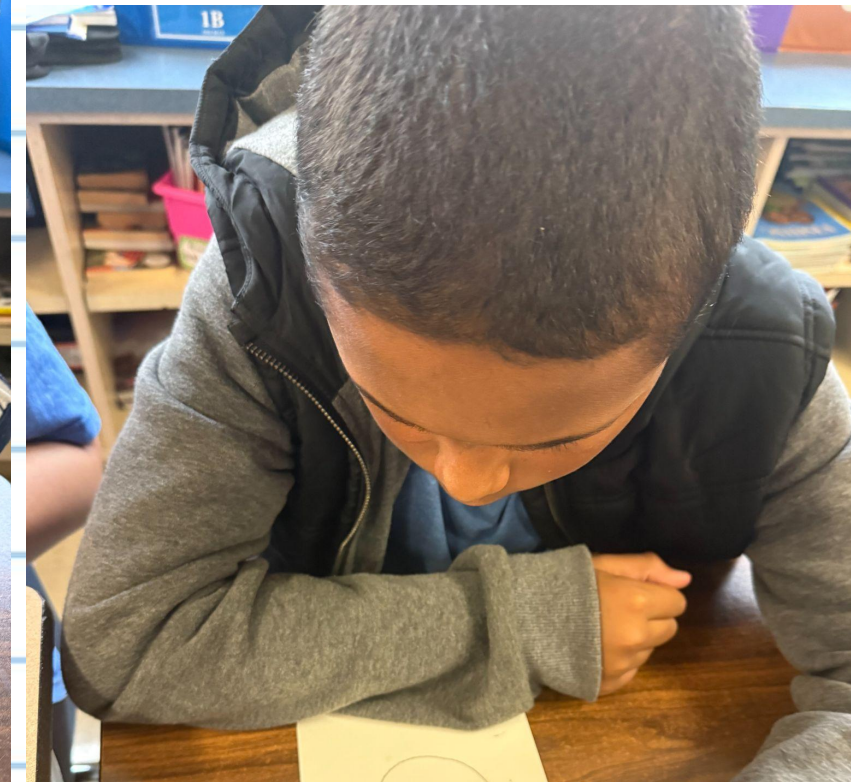

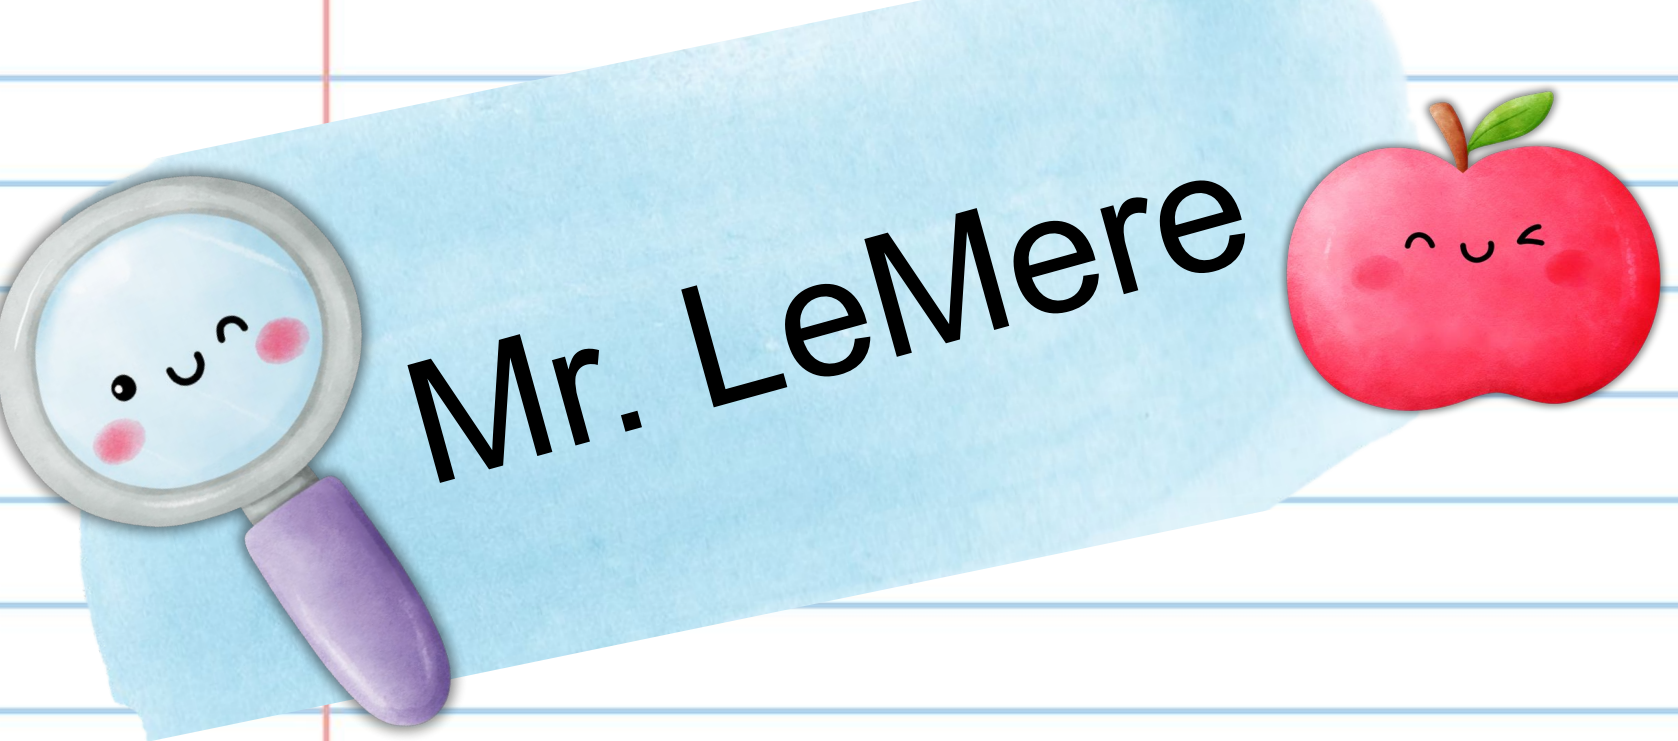

Ms. Klecha

Yay!! Our class earned Tech Day for October's PAW Celebration on Friday and got to make turkeys using watercolor paints. They turned out so adorable!

We have started to explore what it truly means to be thankful! Our hallways are decorated with students hand prints and thankfulness and leaf rubbings.
